To whom it may concern,

Ms. Irene Schwarz gave my children weekly piano lessons in the period September 2014 to July 2019. In the years that Irene worked with them, she displayed great commitment and was always well prepared. Through her friendly and competent manner, she encouraged my children to explore music and develop their creative abilities. Additionally, Irene motivated them to independently pursue their piano practice by providing fun and level appropriate training exercises.

Due to both her diligence and caring nature, Irene was equally appreciated and valued by several other families. She successfully organized and co-ordinated a concert each semester for which all her students were well prepared and actively participated. The piano concert was a semester highlight for the children and their families. It demonstrated both Irene's organizational competence and her ability to motivate her students towards semester goals.

Ms. Schwarz is characterized by personal dedication and a high level of motivation. She works independently and is a conscientious, reliable piano teacher who consistently performs well. I can confidently recommend her as a piano teacher and wish her all the very best for her future pursuits.

With kind regards
